

Earnings Disclaimer

We make no promises about earnings, leads or business results. Any examples, figures or timeframes on our website reflect experience with previous work and industry knowledge. They are illustrations, not projections or guarantees for your business.

Why we say this

Your results depend on many things we do not control: your industry, your competition, your prices, your reputation, how the work is implemented, how customers behave and how AI platforms choose to answer. Two businesses buying the same service can get different results.

What you can rely on

We deliver the work we agree to deliver, done properly and designed to give your business the best possible chance of being picked up and recommended by AI platforms. Our guarantee is simple. Do everything we ask of you during your engagement, and if you are genuinely unhappy with the work and the results, we continue working for you at no additional cost until you are happy, for up to a further 90 days. Every campaign targets the local market agreed with you at the start, and that is what the guarantee covers. The guarantee does not extend to specific outcomes inside AI platforms, which nobody can honestly promise. It does not cover revenue, leads or specific outcomes, because nobody can honestly guarantee those.

Testimonials and case studies

Any testimonials or case studies shown on our site, including improvement scores, reflect the individual experience of those clients. They are not a promise that you will achieve the same or similar results.

Your decisions are yours

Any business decision you make, including whether to buy our services, is your own responsibility. If you are unsure, take independent advice before you commit.